

PERFECT CONTINUOUS TENSE

English uses the Perfect Continuous Tense to depict continuous acts that began in the past, are still happening in the present, and may or may not continue. It incorporates traits from the continuous aspect as well as the flawless aspect.

Read more

Q1: What is the Perfect Continuous Tense of the verb 'study'?

- A: studied
 - B: studying
 - C: had been studying
 - D: have been studying
-

Q2: What is the Perfect Continuous Tense of the verb 'run'?

- A: ran
 - B: running
 - C: had been running
 - D: have been running
-

Q3: Choose the sentence that demonstrates the Present Perfect Continuous Tense:

- A: She is eating breakfast right now.
 - B: They ate dinner together last night.
 - C: He has been playing football for two hours.
 - D: I will go to the store later.
-

Q4: What is combined with the auxiliary verb to create the Perfect Continuous Tense?

- A: Gerund
 - B: Past participle
 - C: Present participle
 - D: Infinitive
-

Q5: Which verb tense emphasizes the action's length, consistency, and connection to the present?

- A: Past Progressive Tense
 - B: Simple Present Tense
 - C: Present Perfect Tense
 - D: Perfect Continuous Tense
-

Q6: What is the main objective of using the Perfect Continuous Tense?

- A: Highlight the action's length, consistency, and connection to the present
 - B: Disclose future intentions or actions
 - C: Emphasize sudden events in the past
 - D: Comment on present situations or facts
-

Q7: Which tense describes ongoing actions that began in the past and continue into the present?

- A: Future Perfect Continuous
 - B: Past Perfect Continuous
 - C: Present Perfect Continuous
 - D: Simple Present
-

Q8: When is Future Perfect Continuous employed?

- A: When describing ongoing actions that will begin in the future and last for a while before a specific future time
 - B: When describing hypothetical situations and events in fictitious scenarios
 - C: When describing past events that had been going on at some point in time before another past event
 - D: When describing completed actions that happened at an indefinite time in the past
-

Q9: Which tense is used in the sentence 'By next year, I will have lived in this city for ten years'?

- A: Perfect Continuous Tense
 - B: Present Perfect Tense
 - C: Simple Present Tense
 - D: Simple Past Tense
-

Q10: What type of activities are described using the Perfect Continuous Tense?

- A: Activities that started in the past and continue up until now or until a certain point in the future
 - B: Activities that happened regularly in the past
 - C: Activities that happened and ended in the past
 - D: Activities that will happen in the future
-

Answers

Q1: D - have been studying

Q2: D - have been running

Q3: C - He has been playing football for two hours.

Q4: C - Present participle

Q5: D - Perfect Continuous Tense

Q6: A - Highlight the action's length, consistency, and connection to the present

Q7: C - Present Perfect Continuous

Q8: A - When describing ongoing actions that will begin in the future and last for a while before a specific future time

Q9: A - Perfect Continuous Tense

Q10: A - Activities that started in the past and continue up until now or until a certain point in the future